Important: This is a fictional sample document created for software testing. It is not the policy of any real company and should not be treated as legal or HR advice.

1. Working Hours and Attendance

• The standard working schedule is Monday to Friday, from 9:30 AM to 5:30 PM, with a one-hour lunch break.

• Employees may request flexible working hours from their manager. Approval depends on team coverage and business needs.

• If an employee expects to be late or absent, they should notify their manager as early as practical.

• Repeated unexplained absences may be referred to Human Resources for review.

2. Leave Policy

• Full-time employees receive 18 days of paid annual leave per calendar year.

• Employees should submit planned leave requests at least five working days in advance when possible.

• Sick leave should be reported to the manager on the first day of absence. A medical certificate may be requested for absences lasting more than three consecutive working days.

• Unused annual leave may be carried forward up to a maximum of five days, subject to manager approval and applicable law.

• Public holidays are observed according to the official holiday calendar for the employee's work location.

3. Remote Work

• Eligible employees may work remotely up to two days per week with manager approval.

• Employees working remotely must be reachable during agreed core hours, normally 10:00 AM to 4:00 PM local time.

• Company devices and confidential information must be protected when working outside the office.

• Remote-work arrangements may be reviewed if performance, security, or operational needs require a change.

4. Code of Conduct

• Employees are expected to treat colleagues, customers, and partners respectfully and professionally.

• Harassment, discrimination, bullying, threats, and retaliation are prohibited.

• Conflicts of interest should be disclosed promptly to the employee's manager or Human Resources.

• Company systems must not be used for unlawful activities or to access, share, or store prohibited material.

5. Information Security and Data Privacy

• Employees must use strong, unique passwords and enable multi-factor authentication where available.

• Passwords and authentication codes must never be shared with another person.

• Confidential company or customer data should only be accessed for authorized work purposes.

• Lost devices, suspected phishing, accidental data disclosure, or other security incidents must be reported to the IT or Security team immediately.

• Employees should store work files only in company-approved systems and should not transfer confidential files to personal accounts.

6. Expense Reimbursement

• Business expenses must be reasonable, necessary, and supported by itemized receipts.

• Expense claims should be submitted within 30 calendar days of the purchase or trip ending.

• Manager approval is required before reimbursement. Finance may request additional documentation.

• Personal expenses, traffic fines, and expenses without a clear business purpose are not reimbursable under this sample policy.

7. Equipment and Acceptable Use

• Company equipment is provided for business use and must be handled with reasonable care.

• Employees must not install unapproved software or disable security controls without authorization from IT.

• Equipment loss or damage should be reported promptly to the manager and IT team.

• On departure, employees must return company property and follow instructions for transferring or deleting company data.

8. Performance and Learning

• Managers should hold regular check-ins with team members and provide clear feedback on goals and performance.

• Formal performance reviews are normally conducted twice per year.

• Employees may request relevant training or professional-development resources through their manager, subject to budget and business priorities.

9. Questions and Exceptions

• Employees with questions about these sample policies should contact Human Resources or their manager.

• Any exception should be documented and approved by the appropriate manager or policy owner.

• In a real organization, applicable laws, employment agreements, and official company policies take precedence over this fictional example.
